

Shields
1000 Room

FULTON BAG & COLLON MILLS.

Re: Employes.

Atlanta, Ga.

October 13th.

Investigation at the mill was again taken up on above date by another operative, who advises that he began work at 6:00 A.M. and discontinued at 6:00 P.M. During the day he had a talk with an employe by the name of Oscar Fox in regard to why so many men were out and so much work on machines lying idle, Fox saying that the help did not work regularly because so many of them became "tanked up" on corn liquor on Saturdays; that he lived over on Carroll St. and that men drove up to the houses and sold it like milk. Another man, named Ben Davis, said that fifteen of the hands were out on this day because they had been intoxicated. Both of these men also said that this caused dissatisfaction among those that wanted to work and a great many left on that account; that there was a great deal of drunkenness in the village.

Aside from the above operative was unable to learn anything of interest during the day.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 14, 1919.